

Note: Due to plant visibility, targeted spot spraying does not completely eradicate wild parsnip from a treated area. Wild parsnip may not be visible due to weather conditions that influence growth. A slow growing season results in smaller plants that may be harder to see. Long grasses and other vegetation may impede plant visibility. Also, first year wild parsnip plants are difficult to see early in the season. A section of road may need to be assessed weeks later for additional spot spraying if numerous plants were missed for any of the given circumstances. Any plants that are resprayed are plants that were not treated previously.
